In the ninety-nineties DYNAMICS SPC invented a promising vibration diagnostics system for pumping equipment. We made a decision and implemented the system in a unit and we were interested in trying out the brand new invention. Within a year the system had a significant effect. Our specialist mechanics loved the system as it allowed them to determine problems and prevent them. Today we can't imagine our facilities without the COMPACS system. The new facilities designed today in our enterprise are commissioned with the complete system package which provides total facility reliability function. For the 25 years of collaborative effort we went through a lot. I do appreciate DYNAMICS SPC for the collaborative work, reliability and mutually beneficial cooperation. Congratulations on the Anniversary. I wish you fulfillment of your ideas appearing during the development of new systems. I wish you happiness, health and prosperity.
